Metro Bus Hearing Dismays Riders With Unpopular Route Proposals

by Diane Oberg

The bus route changes proposed by the county Office of Transportation (OT) were not popular with citizens attending the city council's April 13 public hearing. The hearing was the first public look at the way the county department proposes that local bus routes change when the northern section of the Metrorail Green Line opens in December.

Daphne Quinn, an intern in Greenbelt's Department of Planning and Community Development, described the proposed changes. Six routes currently serve Greenbelt. If the proposed changes are approved, only two routes will remain. Another route, the C-2, is essentially unchanged, but will not serve any part of Greenbelt other than the Metro station.

The other changes will have more effect on Greenbelt residents (see box). The two express buses to the New Carrollton station, the R-11 and R-15, will be eliminated. The R-12 will be re-routed to serve three green line stations (P.G. Plaza, College Park, Greenbelt), and the orange line New Carrollton station, instead of the current service to orange line stations Addison Road and Deanwood. There will be changes to the T-15 route and the F-6 will no longer serve Greenbelt.

F-6 Changes

The change to the F-6 route was the most unpopular proposal at the hearing. It is currently used by Greenbelters travelling to the University of Maryland and by those wanting to travel to Silver Spring or to connect to other Montgomery County routes. Several speakers noted that it is the only bus serving Greenbelt after 8:30 p.m.

Greenbelt residents who want to go to the University of Maryland using public transportation would have a couple of options when the routes change. They can go to the Greenbelt Metro station and take Metrorail to the College Park station, one stop away. However, as several speakers pointed out, the College Park station is a 20-30 minute walk from the main campus of the university. Alternately, they could take the C-2 bus from the Greenbelt Metro station to the University of Maryland. However, this necessitates a bus-to-bus transfer that would likely extend the time required for the trip.

While the university's shuttle bus also serves Greenbelt, it only runs while regular classes are in session, with no service during the summer or other breaks. In addition, it stops running around 7 p.m. Only students, professors and other University employees may use the shuttle.

Residential Streets

There was also no support voiced in the hearing for the transportation department's stated goal of keeping new routes off residential streets. Transportation Planner Terry Potts told the News Review that this policy was designed to avoid the citizen complaints that frequently arise when buses are shifted to new roads. However, several speakers felt removing bus service from internal city streets would reduce ridership by making residents walk too far to meet a bus.

Particularly hard hit by the proposed changes is the University Square/Charlestowne Village/Belle Point area. Currently, only the F-6 serves this area. If the proposed route changes are approved, Joanne Carol pointed out, residents of that area have a choice of trying to cross Greenbelt Road at Lakecrest or walking around the lake, in the dark during winter, to catch a bus.

The T-15/16 route provides service from Greenbelt to the New Carrollton Metro station, with stops at many locations in transit. Margaret Simon said the only reason she has ever taken this bus is for a "scenic tour of the county." Fred Gasper and Noreen Yoch disputed Metro's claim that the route takes 45 minutes. Both said it generally ran closer to one hour and was rarely on time.

Council to Look at Cinema Cafe; Prepares for Stimulus

The Greenbelt City Council, at its April 12 regular meeting, discussed legislation for the theater, the Lakewood storm drainage project, an ordinance to borrow funds, a proposal to spend funds which may become available under the President's economic stimulus program and the formation of a bicycle task force.

Theater Legislation

Councilmember Thomas White announced that Governor Schaefer is in support of the Greenbelt version of the cinema-cafe theater legislation before the Maryland General Assembly. This bill would authorize the granting of alcoholic beverage licenses to movie theaters operating with a cinema-cafe format as proposed for the Greenbelt Theater, subject to a number of conditions proposed by the City Council. This item will be considered further at the next meeting. (Note: The News Review has been advised by the city staff that this bill was enacted by the legislature.

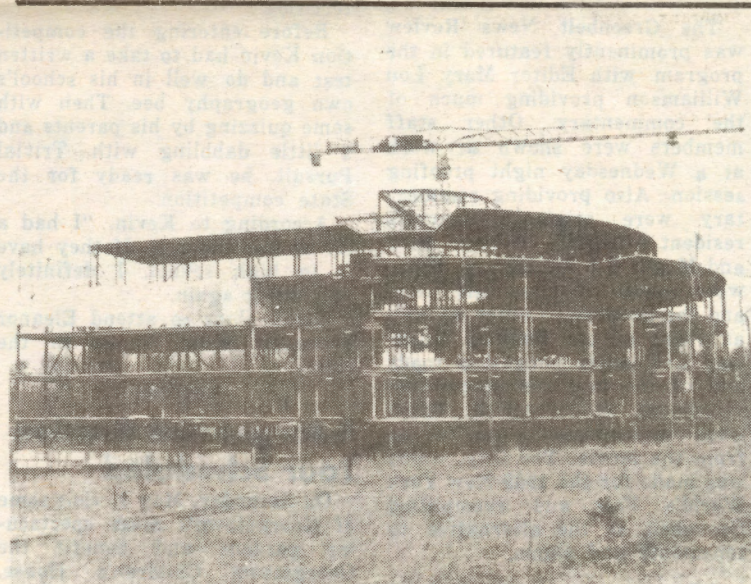

Lakewood Project

Councilman White asked staff about the status of the Lakewood storm drainage project. Daniel Hobbs, City Manager, indicated that negotiations with the County Department of Environmental Services were ongoing and that he would provide a status report at the next meeting. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld expressed his concern that this project, needed to alleviate excessive storm water runoff flowing through yards in the Lakewood area, not be forgotten.

Ordinance to Borrow

An ordinance to extend the length of time funds can temporarily be borrowed to finance the cost of special assessment improvements at Roosevelt Center was presented to the council and introduced for first reading. With the extension proposed, See COUNCIL, page 16, col. 1

COURTHOUSE RISING OFF CHERRYWOOD

The 180,000 square foot U.S. Courthouse is about 29 percent complete. Pre-cast materials will soon be placed over the structural steel that frames the building. Later this month, horizontal bands of natural stone, designed to offset the lighter pre-cast panels, will be installed.

The parking deck composed of pre-cast fabricated panels has already been assembled and will be put in place as soon as the weather improves.

Under the direction of the General Services Administration the architectural firm of Hellmuth, Obata, and Kassabaum designed the courthouse and ORSS Commercial Group, Inc. is assisting with the construction management of the project. The George Hyman Construction Company is the contractor for the Superstructure Phase.

When completed in January 1994, the structure will house the Southern Division of the Maryland courts. The building will contain seven courtrooms: one for the senior District Court judge, two for the District Courts, two for the Magistrates, and two for the Bankruptcy Courts. The courthouse will house approximately 300 employees.

Missing the Bus

Metro will be truly missing the bus if it adopts the route changes recommended by the county Office of Transportation. By making it more difficult to move from Greenbelt to other county locations, such as the University of Maryland, the changes will further discourage bus travel. Soon, only those people with no other transportation options will take Metro bus, leading to further route reductions.

But perhaps the worst fault of the proposal is the lack of transportation between Greenbelt and the station. At most end-of-the-line stations, the parking lots fill up by 8 a.m. With a few short, frequent shuttle runs, Metro could collect city commuters and take them directly to the station. By providing a convenient service at less cost than the parking fee, Metro could increase the parking available for longer distance commuters.

There are a couple of other problems. Why drop the loop through Capital Office Park on the T-15 forcing riders to go all the way to the Metro station in order to transfer to a Laurel bus to get to Ivy Lane or Cherrywood Lane. And why is there no bus transportation to bring Greenbelters home after 8 pm.?

We urge the county and WMATA to reexamine their proposed changes to better serve the needs of city and county residents.

WUSA's Studio 9 Revisits Greenbelt

by James Giese

Studio 9, hosted by Maureen Bunyan, presented a 10-minute feature on Greenbelt. "Model Town USA," Studio 9 was shown on WUSA (TV channel 9) Sunday morning and again late that night, April 18. The material used had been taped originally in conjunction with the city's 50th Anniversary.

The Greenbelt News Review was prominently featured in the program with Editor Mary Lou Williamson providing much of the commentary. Other staff members were shown at work at a Wednesday night proofing session. Also providing commentary were original Greenbelt resident James D. (Donny) Wolf and Mayor Gil Weidenfeld. There were scenes of Greenbelt Lake and the Roosevelt Center, as well as views of the Beltway. Parkway and other congested roads and of the new commercial development in Greenbelt. These were intermingled with scenes from the movie. The City, which was made for the 1939 New York World's Fair and exemplified Greenbelt as the alternative to tenements and slums.

After scenes which depicted the ideal community of the thirties and how it looked today, Bunyan noted that the city's "belt of green" was largely gone. She then posed the question, "will the 'city of the future' now with a 50-year past manage to maintain its identity for the next 50?"

Williamson responded that "Some things don't change. The fact that the town was designed for healthful family living, fresh air, green grass, lots of sunshine, safe places for your children to play are very valuable things that you don't just find anywhere."

Greenbelter Places Third

In his first scholastic competition, Kevin Faherty, an eighth-grader at Kenmoor Middle School in Landover, placed third in the Maryland Geography Bee which was held recently at Bowie State University.

For his efforts, he won $50 and an atlas from National Geographic, sponsor of the bee.

Competing with 100 students from across the state, Kevin was tested on location of countries as well as their distinctive political and economic characteristics.

Before entering the competition Kevin had to take a written test and do well in his school's own geography bee. Then with some quizzing by his parents and a little dabbling with Trivial Pursuit, he was ready for the State competition.

According to Kevin, "I had a lot of fun doing it. If they have it in high school, I definitely will try it again."

Kevin plans to attend Eleanor Roosevelt High School in the fall.

Unsafe Crossing

To the Editor:

I frequently use the pedestrian crosswalk at Northway and Crescent Roads near St. Hugh's School. I take my grandchildren for rides in their strollers and go to the library or the center using that crosswalk. When using the crosswalk we've had to wait a long time before any car will stop to let us cross, and we've had to run across the road to escape speeders. The last time I used that crosswalk after activating the flashing yellow light, we were almost run down by a driver in a pick-up truck who yelled at us for being in the road and who swerved over the double yellow line to get around us. I guess he didn't know what a flashing yellow light meant.

I'm concerned about the children who cross the road when there is no school guard to stop the traffic. I've watched them push the button to activate the flashing yellow light and then run like heck to get to the other side. They shouldn't have to do that as a routine way to cross the road.

A flashing light is not safe at that crosswalk — a stop light is needed. People need to cross the road safely.

Saved the Day!

To the Editor:

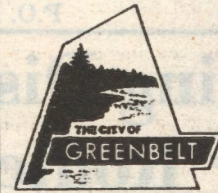

My wedding day was March 13, the day of the terrible blizzard. On that morning at 10 a.m. I came out of my parents house on White Birch Court carrying my wedding dress in a clear plastic bag. Just as I came out, a Greenbelt snowplow passed the house as it plowed the street. I believe the plow operator must have seen me with the dress because he did something wonderful and totally unexpected. Instead of plowing the street until it was clear and moving onto the next street, he plowed a path from White Birch Court to Crescent Road. My parents, my bridesmaid and I (in two cars) were able to follow the plow and proceed to the church. I wish to thank the anonymous plow operator for taking the time to help us. Because of his efforts, we had no problems getting to the church and the ceremony went on as planned.

While we were on our honeymoon, we heard countless stories about other couples who had to cancel or postpone their weddings because of the storm. I am very grateful to the City of Greenbelt for plowing the roads and keeping up with the storm. I am especially grateful to the plow operator whom I will never forget.

Community Day

At Goddard Center

Goddard Space Flight Center will hold "Community Day" on Sunday, April 25 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Community Day is designed to give neighbors an opportunity to learn how the NASA center explores the Earth and its universe. Tours of the center will be conducted, including stops at the NASA Communication Center, which is the heart of a global communications system, and the Spacecraft Systems Development and Integration Facility, which contains one of the worlds largest cleanrooms.

Family entertainment is planned throughout the day at the Visitor Center, located off Soil Conservation Road. Among the activities are a "Science Bowl" competition featuring local students at 11 a.m.; musical entertainment at noon; a presentation on the upcoming Hubble Space Telescope servicing mission at 1 p.m.; spacesuit demonstrations at noon and 2 p.m.; and model rocket launches at 3 p.m.

All events are free. For more information, call (301) 286-8955 (Voice and TDD) during business hours.

Arts Coalition Meets

The Greenbelt Visual Arts Coalition will host a meeting on Thursday, April 29, 7:30 p.m. at Greenbelt Center School Media Room concerning the artists studios at the proposed community center. Any artist or craftsperson interested in the studios is welcome. Contact Barbara Simon, 474-2192, for further information.

On Friday, April 30, John Echave, National Geographic's illustrations editor, will be taking "Explorations Unlimited" participants on a visual and verbal tour of the magazine's mission, and the ins and outs of putting a story together, complete with photo journalism. He will be showing some National Geographic videos to demonstrate how the society fulfills its mission with excellence. Echave has worked on a number of stories from all over the world, including the Mayan ruins, and worked for U.S. News and World Report before coming to National Geographic.

"Explorations Unlimited" is a speaker series held every Friday from 1-3 p.m. at the Youth Center. Everyone is welcome to attend and questions are always encouraged. For more information call 474-6878.

Recreation Review

City Athletic Field Use

First priority for practice and games on city fields will be to permit holders and city leagues. All other use is on a first-come, first-served basis.

City Tennis Court Use

Tennis players are reminded to check posted rules for the city's tennis courts. Greenbelt residents have priority use of the courts.

Nursery School Has Annual Spring Fair

The Greenbelt Nursery School and Kindergarten will hold its annual Spring Fair and Silent Auction, on Saturday, May 1 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the school. This day of fun-filled activities for the entire family includes children's games, craft and yard sales, refreshments, and much more. The school is located at 1 Hillside Road, adjacent to the Greenbelt Community Church. In the event of rain, the fair will be held in the church basement. For further information, call (301) 474-5570.

There are still openings for afternoon classes for the 1993-94 school year for 2-4 year old children.

Observe Earth Day

The National Park Service and the Environmental Protection Agency will observe Earth Day with activities such as: tree planting, stream clean-up, and litter pick-up around the park boundary.

Meet at the Sweetgum Picnic Area on Saturday, April 24, from

Arts Center Meeting

The Greenbelt Arts Advisory Committee's next monthly meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, April 27, 7:30 p.m., at the Greenbelt Aquatic and Fitness Center. The main topic for the meeting is to preview the concept and plan for the design of the performing arts space at the Community Center as proposed by the Greenbelt Arts Center and as drawn by local architect Kim McCarl. The presentation will take approximately 30-45 minutes with time for questions immediately following. The meeting is open to the public. For more information contact Cathy Corona-Salgado at 474-6878.

Astronomy Club Holds Star Party

The Greenbelt Astronomy Club will try again to hold a Public Star Party on Saturday, April 24, at the Northway Fields. Telescopes from club members will be available for viewing the moon, Jupiter, Mars, and other wonders of the night sky. Admission is free and everyone is welcome to attend. Observing will begin at 8 p.m. and continue until 10 p.m.

The next meeting of the Greenbelt Astronomy Club will be on Wednesday, April 28 at the Owens Science Center at 7:30 p.m. The major topic of discussion will be the upcoming Astronomy Day at the Owens Science Center on Saturday, May 1. Both the monthly meeting of the Greenbelt Astronomy Club, and the Astronomy Day events at the Owens Science Center, are open to the public.

Toastmasters Meet

The Spring Speakers Toastmasters Club invites all Greenbelters to join them the third and fourth Tuesdays of the month, at 7:15 p.m. in the police department conference room.

The Toastmasters program assists individuals in developing good speaking skills, eliminating nervous jitters, expressing appropriate body language, and developing leadership potential.

For more information call Dave at 474-9626 or Mary at 345-0518.

Greenbelt CARES

The Guidance Department at Eleanor Roosevelt High School paid tribute to Wendy Wexler of Greenbelt CARES at a luncheon held recently. Wendy has been leading discussion groups at the school for a number of years, and has also met with students on an individual basis. In addition, she has been available to the guidance staff to discuss their concerns.

The Prince Georges Youth Services Bureau directors met with County Executive Parris Glendening. The discussion focused on problems facing the county's young people and their families, Youth Services Bureau responses to those problems in the face of dwindling resources, and the usefulness of the Bureau to the County Executive as continuing resources.

Municipal Gov't

Week Activities Set

In recognition of Municipal Government Week, April 26-30, the City of Greenbelt has scheduled several activities to make citizens more aware of their municipal government.

The city will fly a special "Municipal Government Works" flag at the city offices. City council will issue a proclamation in observance of Municipal Government Week.

Greenbelt Municipal Access Channel B-10 will kick off its new series "Meet Your City Officials." The program features a different city official each week. In this way, residents will have a chance to see their elected officials in a setting other than a regular council meeting. The program, consisting of a one-on-one interview with each official, will air on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p.m. on Channel B-10. Also included in Channel B-10's programming for the week will be the Video Annual Report for FY 1991-92 and a replay of that week's city council meeting.

The Kindergarten classes of Springhill Lake Elementary School will take a field trip to the city offices to see where council meetings are held. There will also be a tour of the Greenbelt Museum, a short demonstration on recycling at the Buddy Attick Park drop off center and a stop at the city's greenhouse. The trip will end with a picnic at Greenbelt Lake.

Tour the Green Belt

The committee to save the Green Belt sponsors tours of the "Green Belt" woods. If interested, call 474-4863.

Puppeteer to Speak On Crime Prevention

The Springhill Lake Good Neighbor Watch Group, winner of the 1988 Governor's Certificate of Merit for Crime Prevention, will celebrate its 12th Anniversary on Thursday, April 29, at 7 p.m. at the Fountain Lodge.

Featured for the evening will be internationally known puppeteer Barbara Aiello, creator of Next Door Neighbor puppets. The group has performed a variety of community programs. The theme at this anniversary will be crime prevention.

All residents are invited to attend this celebration. Invitees include city and county dignitaries.

Certificates of Training will be presented to those residents who have attended training sessions from April '92-April '93. For information call 474-3269.

Spotlight On the Arts

by Sandy Smith

Marie Tousignant, who has served five terms on the Board and several as President, was reelected President at the Arts Center's Annual Meeting on March 28. Tousignant, the guiding force behind the Arts Center, has been involved in all aspects of its work, from actress to director, organizer of art auction, grants writer, Marquis editor and data base coordinator. Steve Blais was elected Vice President. He's been a member of the Board and has professional theater experience in summer stock and founded a Montgomery County Drama Festival for high schools. Trix Whitehall who is a founding member of the Arts Center was reelected Recording Secretary. She has participated in virtually all of the Arts Center's activities and has a role in the current production, "Small of My Mind." Will Larkin was elected to serve a second term as Treasurer.

Also reelected to the Board of Directors were: Ashok Ambardekar, Mary Lou Fisher, Alan Freas, Konrad Herling, Fann Kash, Tom Renahan, Dial Silvers, Sandy Smith and Virginia Zanner. Joining the Board for a first term is Robert Holloway. Holloway will take over as Music Series producer, replacing Tom Renahan who is turning his full-time attention to the Theater Board and responsibilities related to the design and support needed for the new theater. Continuing on the Board are: Bill Ayres, Pat Horsman, Frank Pearlman and Ken Voigt.

President's Report

Tousignant described the past year as one of success and challenge for the Arts Center. It was the year that the Arts Center took first place at the Maryland One-Act Play Tournament and also the fourth year the group dealt with the challenge of being a travelling theater. She described the play and music series as a string of excellent performances which drew substantial audiences. She viewed both the performances and the operations of the Arts Center as improving, but seriously hampered by the lack of a permanent performance site. With a permanent theater the group can perform more ambitious plays, involving complex sets and lighting. A permanent theater will also permit advance publicity and be a central focus for performing arts in the community, she explained.

Financial Status

Will Larkin gave the Treasurer's Report. He stated that the Arts Center had a $15,000 development fund for the new theater and would be able to make a contribution as well this year. He said that fund raisers had been successful: Art Auction, Labor Day Booth, and Festival of Lights concession stand raised over $5,000. All performances ran a deficit, some because the sets involved some permanent purchases of equipment and others because the expenses were greater than revenue gained through attendance. When the productions take place in facilities with limited space for audience, the overall revenue is limited. In addition, arts events frequently must be supported through fund raisers, grants and donations. Membership now stands at 150.

Facilities Development

A committee chaired by Tom Renahan has developed a comprehensive design plan for a theater to be built as part of the new community center. They will be presenting this report to community groups and city government for discussion and support. The theater is designed to be an excellent performance site for a variety of types of productions as well as to meet other community arts needs and generate income through its use by other arts groups.

Senior Talent Show

The Arts Center's Senior Talent Show will be held at the Green Ridge House on May 1. Producer Celia Brooks is looking for seniors who sing, dance, play musical instruments, tell jokes and stories, or perform dramatic readings or magic acts. Call Brooks at 345-8745 to sign up for the show.

"Midsummer Night's Dream" is the Arts Center's Youth Theater production of the Greenbelt Arts Center. It will feature many talented local children and will be performed on Greenbelt Day.

Rare Azalea Sale

Both evergreen and deciduous azaleas, many of which are not commonly found in the nursery trade will be on sale Saturday, April 24 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the grove adjacent to the Administration Building at the National Arboretum, 7501 New York Avenue, N.E. The sale is co-sponsored by the Brookfield Chapter of the Azalea Society of America and the Friends of the National Arboretum. The plants were propagated and contributed by members of the society.

Lecture Offered Ayurveda, TM

A free public lecture titled "Creating Perfect Health Through Ayurveda and the Transcendental Meditation Program" will be held Tuesday, April 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Greenbelt Library. This lecture will be given by Greenbelt resident Mark Stickels. Transcendental Meditation (TM) Program Instructor and trained speakers on Ayurveda medicine.

This lecture will introduce the basic principles of Ayurveda as presented by Deepak Chopra, MD in his bestselling books "Perfect Health" and "Unconditional Life." Ayurveda is an ancient form of holistic medicine that treats the entire body and not just the symptoms. Prevention is Ayurveda's greatest strength because it treats the underlying cause of disease, restores biological balance and eliminates the cause of all serious illness. Ayurveda medicine complements modern medicine and adherents claim it has been successful in treating colds, severe allergies, and even cancer and that research on these programs of self development have shown that aging can be reduced and even reversed with long term practice.

For more information on TM, Ayurveda, or the library lectures call Stickels at 301-220-1607 or 301-441-9398.

Talking About Drugs Workshop Offered

A free workshop to help parents and children interpret what's really being said in their families — especially when it comes to a tough topic like drinking and using drugs will be held Sunday, May 2 at Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Now You're Talking!: Parents and Kids Talk Straight About Alcohol and Other Drugs, is a 90-minute program for parents and their children in grades four through nine. Members of Aid Association for Lutherans Branch No. 4466 are sponsoring the workshop. Each family attending will receive a special take-home video.

Parents and their children will discuss videotape scenes in which families send unclear messages about alcohol and other drugs. They will practice "talking straight" and listening to each other, first steps in the prevention of alcohol and other drug abuse. The take-home video is designed to help families keep talking at home.

For more information contact Eunice Kuring at 345-5111.

Nat'l Park Service Seeks Performers

The National Park Service is looking for volunteer groups to perform in the 1993 White House Visitor Music Program from July 6 to September 4, on the Ellipse, located south of the White House.

Entertainers will perform for visitors waiting to tour the White House. The Park Service is recruiting elementary, high school and college bands, drum and bugle corps ensembles, folk singers, orchestras and other artists who can perform with little or no electronic amplification.

Groups will be scheduled to perform for 30-45 minute segments between 10 a.m. and noon, Tuesday through Saturday.

Interested groups should apply to the National Park Service music coordinator, Jennifer Feehey at (202) 755-7798 (V/TDD) or write to President's Park, 1100 Ohio Drive, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20242.

Americanism and Youth

by Rusty Beeg

The emphasis was on Americanism and Youth at a ceremony held by Greenbelt Unit 136, American Legion Auxiliary, on Tuesday evening, April 20, at the Legion Hall. Winners of an essay contest held in area schools for grades four through eight were announced and the winning essays read. Teachers and principals from the various schools were also recognized.

A presentation about the Girls State program which encompasses training in political and legislative subjects for high school juniors was on the agenda, also a special reading about the American Flag.

Unit 136 is currently selecting girls from three area schools interested in attending the 1993 session of Girls State to be held at Washington College in Chestertown, Maryland, June 19-26. This program is a participatory program which covers two-party politics, simulated legislation, and the political structure of city, county and state governments. Tuition, room and board for the participants is covered by the Unit. To be eligible, girls must be completing their Junior year in June and be in the top 25% of their class. Interested students at Eleanor Roosevelt or DuVal High Schools should contact the Guidance Office. Parkdale students should contact the chairman of the awards committee. For further information call 577-3025.

Senior Talent Musical Show Set for Green Ridge House

by Sandy Smith

With the harmonious "Welcome to Greenbelt," as the opening song, the Senior Talent Show will be held at Green Ridge House on Saturday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to this musical event which producer Celia Brooks promises to be a relaxing, fun-filled evening.

Sponsored by the Greenbelt Arts Center in cooperation with Green Ridge House, the Senior Talent Show features talented Greenbelt performers including the chorus of Greenbelters organized by Mike Burchick, who have made "Welcome to Greenbelt" its theme song. The chorus first appeared at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival two years ago and since that time performed for an Evening with Friends and other community events. They will also perform several other popular favorites.

Solo Performances

Another featured performer is award-winning singer Helen Uring. A member of the Prince Georges Seasoned Players, she has performed at many community events. She will be accompanied by the expert playing of Lucille Luchine. Helen also plans several numbers with other Seasoned Players who perform throughout the county.

Bill Blanchard, who has frequently appeared with local theater groups, including the Greenbelt Arts Center, will perform a dramatic reading. He says to expect something humorous or something Shakespearean. Bill has a strong dramatic presence which lends strength to any selection.

The final program of performers is now being set and may include a special appearance of Sally Carrano, traditional Queen of Hearts in the Labor Day Parade.

There is no admission to this performance planned by the Arts Center's Music Committee, headed by Tom Renahan. Renahan included this first-time senior talent show in the 1992-93 music series because of the great interest in senior performers and the wealth of talent in Greenbelt. For more information call Celia Brooks at 345-8745.

Donations Needed

The warm weather is conducive to spring cleaning. Charitable organizations are looking for donations of materials to sell in their area thrift stores. Contributions are tax deductible. As the seasons change, these stores need appropriate clothing for babies, children, women and men. In addition, bedding/sheets, blankets, towels, socks (single or paired) are welcome.

Clothes that are in poor shape or outdated are acceptable. Textile recycling helps generate income for these organizations. "Rags" are baled and shipped overseas to third world countries where they are desperately needed or used clothing ends up in paper products.

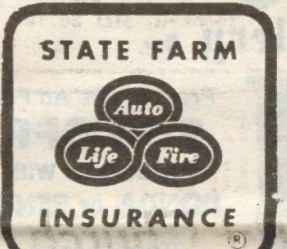

Furniture, mattresses, small appliances in working condition and miscellaneous household items are needed in the thrift stores. Baby outfits and toys quickly find new homes.

Charitable organizations include Salvation Army, 277-7878, American Rescue Workers, 336-6200, and Goodwill Industries, 202-636-4233. Receipts will be provided upon request.

Lockheed Company Comes to Greenbelt

Equitable Real Estate Investment Management and Coakley & Williams announce that the Lockheed Missiles & Space Company, Inc. has leased 26,172 square feet of space in Maryland Trade Center II. The lease was finalized earlier this year and brings the total occupancy of the building to 70%.

Maryland Trade Center II is located in Maryland Trade Center Park, a 600,000 square foot mixed-use development. The park consists of Maryland Trade Center I, II and III, the Holiday Inn Greenbelt, and Martin's Crosswinds.

Coakley & Williams Commercial Properties provides property management, leasing, sales and disposition of properties for developers, asset managers and institutions.

Search for Centenarians

The search is on for centenarians throughout the State of Maryland.

The Maryland Office on Aging, the Urban Gerontology Program of Morgan State University, WJZ-TV, the Baltimore City Commission on Aging and Retirement Education, the Social Security Administration, the Baltimore Gas & Electric Company and the Sheraton Inner Harbor Hotel have launched a campaign to identify persons 100 years of age and older in Maryland.

On May 27 a special ceremony and free luncheon will be held to recognize the lives and contributions of Marylanders who are 100 years of age and older. This special event is being held in observance of "Older Marylanders' Month" in May, as proclaimed by Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The recognition luncheon will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Sheraton Inner Harbor Hotel in downtown Baltimore. Any person who will reach 100 years of age by December 31 is eligible to attend the luncheon free of charge. Persons who wish to attend the luncheon may call the Maryland Office on Aging toll free 1-800-AGE-DIAL. The deadline to register is Friday, April 30.

Help Out the Parks

The Prince Georges County Parks and Recreation Foundation, Inc. needs people willing to give time and expertise to help the organization with its many projects and programs. The Foundation is a private, non-profit, charitable organization designed to enhance the quality of life for all of the citizens of the county. To accomplish this, the Foundation raises funds to support parks, and similar activities in the county. The Foundation gives grants to programs serving disabled youths, senior citizens, sports and recreation activities for youngsters and adults and collecting food for the needy.

For information call Prince Georges County Action Center at 779-9444.

Renovation Completed On Trade Center

Equitable Real Estate Investment Management and Coakley & Williams, Inc. announce that renovation work has been completed on the two largest towers in the Maryland Trade Center Park. According to Tom Long, vice president of leasing for Coakley & Williams, "The work on Maryland Trade Centers I and II totaled over $700,000 and was completed on April 1.

Improvements to Maryland Trade Center I included a total renovation of common areas, particularly the main lobby of the tower. The new design included marble and granite appointments on the first floor as well as installation of landscaping planters and pavers. Maryland Trade Center II received new accents to the entrances, main lobby and outside seating, as well as new finishes in several tenant lobbies.

Long said, "The work is part of a long term strategic plan aimed at maximizing customer retention and occupancy by providing a high quality work environment and customer-centered property management services."

GHI Board Ok's Newsletter Committee, Vinyl Siding

by Sandy Smith

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) Board of Directors approved the establishment of a monthly newsletter at its April 8 meeting. The Board set up a subcommittee of Board members — Keith Jahoda, Don Comis and Margaret Hogenzen — to draft a charter for a Newsletter Committee and agreed to advertise for members to work on the newsletter. The newsletter was seen as an effective method of improving and increasing communication from management and the Board to members.

The Board considered both a report from an ad hoc committee which provided recommendations for a newsletter and a minority report. It agreed that the newsletter would be produced by a permanent committee of members, staff and no more than two board members. Material published in the newsletter would be developed by the Board, management and staff as well as prepared by the committee and contributed by members. Information submitted by the Board, Management, Nominations and Elections Committee and the Audit Committee would be used as submitted (that is, not edited). This decision was based on the policy that no individual committee should have authority over management's and elected Board and Committees' communication to the membership. The Newsletter Committee would be responsible for the content of the rest of the newsletter. Notices will appear in the News Review and members will be asked to volunteer to serve on the Newsletter Committee. Anyone interested should contact Joan Krob.

Yard Maintenance Standards
At two previous meetings, the Board discussed the future of the yard inspection program and enforcement mechanisms for dealing with chronic violators of the minimum standards. A work session was held to examine slides illustrating a number of common conditions throughout the community. Management indicated a need for the following next steps: Define the community standards, identify a fair and efficient inspection system, and identify a means of enforcement which is reasonable and cost effective for both the members and the cooperative.

In response to earlier difficulties in developing a consensus on yard standards, the Board had directed staff to re-write Section IV of the regulations on Care of GHI yards. Staff presented a one-page draft which gives guidelines on member responsibilities and defines the standards for upkeep of walkways, yard areas, lawns, trees and shrubs, swales, and compost piles.

Board member Carol Levin described her concern with the process and indicated a need for more specific standards in order to better educate the membership on the requirements as well as to better enforce the rules. She asked for more quantitative standards, less subjective and more enforceable.

The Board then voted to refer the yard-care guidelines to the Architecture and Environment Committee to see if the standards could be expanded and made more specific and to also refer the matter to the Member and Community Committee to develop a plan to present the standards to members and encourage their use.

1992 Audit

The auditors have completed the 1992 audit and will be presenting it to the Board at an upcoming meeting.

Additions and Siding

After some discussion on setting a precedent for exceptions to the standards on size and height of additions, the Board approved an addition to a two-bedroom frame house which would exceed the size of the original unit as well as exceed the height. The Board members debated this request from a number of perspectives but eventually decided that this, and possibly other future requests, should be decided on individual merits. The particular setting for this addition, backing up to woods, and the approval of neighbors were considered in rendering final approval.

The Board also approved the installation of vinyl siding on a single unit of a shingle duplex.

Volunteers Needed

Retired nurses, LPN's, EMT's, health care professionals etc. are needed to volunteer to assist with Blood Pressure Screenings for the Prince Georges County American Red Cross. Volunteer hours are flexible.

People who can donate a few hours each month please call the Red Cross at 301-559-8500 and ask for Community Development.

"Volunteer Maryland!" Recruits Greenbelters

When a recent study showed that Marylanders volunteered at a rate well below the national average, the Governor's Advisory Board on Service and Citizenship created "Volunteer Maryland!" This federally funded program recruited individuals from around the state to volunteer for one year of service in a variety of non-profit organizations.

Greenbelters Sandra Broadwater, 25, and Hildie Sheftel, 38, stepped forward and were accepted into the program. Said Broadwater, a recent graduate from the University of Maryland, of her decision to join the program before entering the traditional workforce. "Volunteering is a terrific way to obtain essential work experience while still giving something back to the community." Sandra has been placed as a volunteer coordinator at The City of Takoma Park where she will set up programs for volunteers at libraries and police stations.

Sheftel currently resides in Greenbelt East and recently completed two years of service with the Greenbelt City Council's Recycling Advisory Committee. She left employment at Recreational Equipment, Inc.'s College Park location in order to be placed as a volunteer coordinator at the Merkle Wildlife Sanctuary in southern Prince Georges County. "I've always enjoyed the out-of-doors and have been distressed to see open spaces shrinking throughout the county. My placement gives me a rare opportunity to help others get involved in the natural world," said Sheftel.

Both Greenbelters and their 33 "Volunteer Maryland!" associates will serve at their host-sites till December 14. To learn more about how to volunteer at these or other locations, call the Governor's office on Volunteerism, 410-514-7270 or the Prince Georges Volunteer Action Center, 301-779-9444.

City Notes

The onrush of spring has caused the Public Works Department to get busy with its many springtime chores during the week ending April 16. The seasonal grass cutting program has begun. Repair work on all ball-fields is also being undertaken and the fields were prepared for weekend league play. Throughout the city, lawn areas and flower beds were subject to pruning, weed spraying, and mulching. Wildflowers were planted on the slope near the intersection of Ridge and Crescent. Stumps were removed along Crescent Road and a fence damaged in the snow storm by a fallen tree was repaired.

In other work, hot paint traffic control lines were placed on roads at various locations and deteriorated street and traffic signs were replaced. Pot holes in streets were repaired.

Several pieces of equipment were repaired or maintained — the small backhoe which is being used to plant trees at Schrom Hills Park, the chipping machine and the salt trucks after finishing their winter service.

John Murray In PGCC Play

The Hallam Players of Prince Georges Community College present "Master Harold" . . . and the boys" in the Queen Anne Fine Arts Building April 30, May 1, 6, 7, and 8 at 7:30 p.m. A matinee will be held May 2 at 2:30 p.m.

Racism is the underlying theme of playwright Athol Fugard's drama featuring just three student stage performers. Greenbelter John Murray plays a young white South African teenager named Hally, who interacts with two black servants, Sam and Willie, played by Oxon Hill's John Cunningham and Accokeek's John Kearney, respectively.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Governor William D. Schaefer has proclaimed April 26th thru April 30th as MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT WEEK in celebration of 285 successful years of municipal government in the State of Maryland; and

WHEREAS, the citizens of Greenbelt are very proud of this city's long standing reputation of having one of the best municipal governments in the state, beginning on November 23, 1937, when ninety-six percent of the registered voters elected their first City Council, which appointed the first City Manager six days later at a salary of $1.00 per annum, until such time as town funds could be established; and

WHEREAS, in enacting the Greenbelt town charter which became effective July 1, 1937, four months before the first residents arrived, the State Legislature established the first Council/Manager municipal government in the State of Maryland; and

WHEREAS, this form of municipal government proved so successful, with an efficient division of responsibility between a changing legislative body and a permanent administrative staff, that in 1992, after fifty-five years, fifty-five percent of Maryland's local governments are council/manager in form.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gil Weidenfeld, by authority vested in me by the Council and the citizens of Greenbelt, hereby issue this proclamation in honor of

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT WEEK

AND DO FURTHER PROCLAIM the Council's sincere appreciation to the many concerned, informed citizens who have always been the key ingredient to good government in Greenbelt.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt, MD to be affixed this 23rd day of April, 1993.

GIL WEIDENFELD, Mayor

Boys and Girls Club Begin Baseball Season

by Jeff Keir

Now that Spring weather is upon us here, the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club baseball teams are taking advantage, practicing and getting ready for their upcoming 1993 season. In fact, they are already in week three of practice. It appears (at this time) that the club will be fielding three teams this year, up from two last year.

Two 14 and under teams, one competing in the County Boys and Girls Club's more competitive 14-AAA league, the other, made up of boys born in 1979 and 1980, in the County's 14-AA league. It also looks real promising that Greenbelt will be fielding a 16 and under team (boys born in 1977 and 1978). This will be the first time in a number of years that the County will have a league at this level. The two 14-year old teams begin league play on May 10, while the 16 and under team begins league play on June 1.

The club is still looking for boys in the 1977 through 1980 age group to fill in the three teams' rosters. Anyone who has been thinking about playing, act today. People need to be fully registered with the club registrar (all fees paid) in order to begin practicing with the team. To register, parents call Mel Scites at: (H) 441-8689.

The baseball teams are currently holding practice Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, 5:30-7:30 p.m., at Bradea Field (unless there is a heavy rain).

The club has entered a 14 and under team in the Lanham Pre-season Tournament the weekend of April 24. For further information on the tournament schedule, on baseball, or the club in general, call the club's 24-hour Sports Information Line: (202) 310-1066.

Bay Bridge Walk — Festival, May 2

The daylong Bay Day celebration will be held on Sunday, May 2 beginning with the annual Governor's Bay Bridge Run, followed by the 19th annual Bay Bridge Walk, a 4.3-mile stroll on the original span of the William Preston Lane Jr. Memorial Bridge over the Chesapeake Bay. Following the walk, visitors can enjoy Bayfest with its Bay awareness exhibits and demonstrations, as well as entertainment, food and refreshments.

The Bay Bridge Walk will start at 9 a.m. when Mass Transit Administration (MTA) shuttle buses leave designated parking lots. There will be a nominal charge. People will be accommodated until the parking lots are filled, which has usually occurred before noon.

Parking will be available at the Navy-Marine Corps Stadium on Rowe Boulevard in Annapolis, and at Anne Arundel Community College in Arnold.

Drinking water as well as portable toilets will be available along the bridge. Additionally, Toll Facilities Police Officers will be stationed along the bridge to render assistance as needed. Bicycles, pets, runners and joggers are prohibited on the bridge during the walk.

After finishing the Bridge Walk, walkers will be shuttled to Sandy Point State Park for the activities of Bayfest. Shuttle buses will operate continuously between Bayfest and parking areas. Sandy Point will be open only to bridge walkers attending Bayfest. There will be no vehicular traffic permitted in the park during Bay Day.

For more information on this year's Bridge Walk, call toll free 1-800-541-9595. The Bay Bridge Walk and Bayfest will be cancelled in the event of inclement weather or high winds. Cancellation announcements will be made on local radio stations after 6 a.m. that morning.

Arts Center's Play Presents Diversity of Local Talent

by Sandy Smith

Greenbelt Arts Center presents a variety of local talent in its world premiere of "Small of My Mind" at the Greenbelt Youth Center. The play opens Friday.

Gina Bilajiw, who appeared in "Silence of the Lambs" and has performed with many area drama companies, plays Ramona in this original comedy. Ramona's wedding is the occasion for her friends to gather in a small southwestern Virginia town. Bilajiw is a TV-film-video major at American University and studies theater with the Arts Conservatory in Washington. Most recently, she appeared in "MacBeth" with the Chevy Chase Players.

Ramona is set to marry her friend Jeanie's ex-husband Royalle.

Peanie is played by Mary Kay Goczalk. She was featured in "Among My Souvenirs," which won the Maryland One-Act Play Tournament last month and went on to the regional competitions. Goczalk is a Texas native here in Maryland only for a year, but she has sought out local companies to continue her acting career. Joel Parker is appearing in his first GAC production. He is a Greenbelter who works at NASA. He has travelled much in his career and performed in each of the communities where he has lived, from Boulder, Colorado, to San Francisco Bay area, to a small town in Texas.

Jill Loebig plays Bileen, Ramona's roommate. This is her first GAC production, but she has performed with the PG Little Theater, First Players of Hyattsville, and theater groups in Pittsburgh. She has frequently worked with technical aspects of theater production, working in lighting design or execution. She works as a technical analyst for a software publishing company. Laura Seng, most recently in GAC production of "Caine Mutiny Court Martial," plays Ruthann. She lives in Odenton and is an analyst with the Defense Department.

Eckhardt

Julie Marlette Eckhardt of Greenbelt plays Donna Rae, the older sister. She performed in "Childrens Hour." Other acting credits include "Ar'senic and Old Lace" and "Don't Go Near the Water." Genevieve Williams of Washington, D.C., plays Linda Skanky, an old friend of Ramona's. She began her acting career in college. She works at the PG County Department of Social Services where she is involved with Project Independence.

Trix Whitehall plays Tiny. Most recently Whitehall performed in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" and "Children's Hour." She was also a featured performer in "Twelve Angry Jurors." She has handled lighting, sound, props and many other technical aspects of productions. She is a charter member of the Arts Center. Ginny Zanner is appearing as Granny. In addition to her acting credits, she directs and produces the Children's Drama Production each year. She is set designer on this production and served many years as an officer of the GAC.

Handling props is Tony Goczalk, assisted by Hopi Auerbach and Harriet Phelps. Sandy Hamlin serves as sound technician.

The play is performed Friday and Saturday evenings, April 23 through May 8 at 8 p.m., with a special matinee at 2 p.m. on Sunday, May 2. All performances are in the Greenbelt Youth Center where seating is limited and advance reservations recommended. Call the Arts Line on 441-8770 for reservations and information.

SHA Announces Work On US 1 Has Begun

The State Highway Administration (SHA) announces that rehabilitation work will begin this month on U.S. 1 near Beltsville.

The project is necessary in order to improve safety and traffic flow.

The work, covering nearly one mile of U.S. 1 from MD 212 to Quimby Avenue, will include the addition of an extra traffic lane, as well as safety and drainage improvements.

No lane closures will occur during peak traffic hours 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Construction will take place in phases, resulting in traffic lane shifts and minor delays. Some night work will also take place.

Variable message signs (VMS), arrow boards, traffic cones and barrels will guide motorists through the construction site.

Cunningham Paving of Crofton, Md. has been awarded the $1.3 million contract which should be complete by May, 1994.

SHA encourages motorists to "give highway workers a brake."

Youth Basketball Wrap-up

The Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club ended the 1993 basketball season by sponsoring a Basketball Tournament over the March 20-21 and March 26-28 weekends at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center. Thirty-two teams participated including seven Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club teams.

The following Greenbelt teams placed in their respective divisions: 11-AA boys, coached by Jesse Jones, placed first; 12-AA boys, coached by Verne Hedgpeth and Hollis Wilkes, placed 2nd; 12-AAA boys, coached by Kenneth Belt and James Williams, placed 2nd; 14-AA boys, coached by Maurice Garland and Antonio Hunter, placed 2nd; and the 16-boys, coached by Curtis Brown, placed 2nd. It was a very exciting, competitive tournament, proceeds of which will help fund future Boys and Girls Club activities. A special thanks to the Tournament Committee family, the Rameys, who put in an enormous amount of time and effort in making the Tournament the success it was.

The basketball program put on the "final" touch to the season with a "Basketball Awards Ceremony" on Saturday, April 17 at the Greenbelt American Legion. The schedule was as follows: the three Intramural teams, 12 Noon-2 p.m.; the 11-AA boys, 12-AA boys, 12-AA girls (who won their league's County Championship) and the 12-AAA boys, 2:30-4:30 p.m.; and the 13-AA boys, 14-AA boys, 14-girls, 16-boys and the 17-boys, 5-7 p.m.

Please note: To receive any award, a player (County) needs to have returned his or her uniform in good-clean condition. For further information on the awards ceremony or basketball, call Ava or Randall Ramey at: (H) 220-0942.

On another, but related note, the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club Basketball Cheerleaders have been selected "Honorary WPGC-Radio Cheerleaders."

The Greenbelt Cheerleaders will cheer for the WPGC team at WPGC basketball games through May 22. For further information about the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club, call the Club's 24-hour Sports Information Line: (202) 310-1066.

New Drug for AIDS

People with AIDS and those who are infected with HIV can now take advantage of an additional drug through the Maryland AIDS Drug Assistance Program (MADAP), the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene AIDS Administration has announced.

The new drug, zalcitabine (ddC), was added to the MADAP formulary through an emergency regulation, effective for six months beginning December 24, 1992.

ddC was recently approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and is one of three drugs which work directly against HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

ddC is expected to be used in conjunction with AZT, which was the first antiviral drug used to slow the progression of HIV disease. ddC is similar to AZT, and may be prescribed for those who cannot tolerate AZT.

For further information and eligibility requirements for MADAP call the Maryland AIDS Administration at 410-225-6804 or local Maryland Health Department.

Police Blotter

Police Blotter

Based on Information
Released by the Greenbelt
Police Department

Around 12:35 a.m. on April 10, after having just parked her car, a woman was walking towards the rear of the car when she was approached by two males wearing black ski-masks who displayed a handgun and demanded her purse. She dropped her purse and ran into her apartment building. The incident took place in the 6200 block of Springhill Court.

While patrolling the 7500 block of Greenbelt Road around 2:15 a.m. on April 12, an officer stopped a vehicle for an equipment violation and found that the driver was driving with a suspended driver's license and had a Beretta .380 semi-automatic handgun under his seat. The driver, a 28-year-old non-resident man, was then arrested and charged with transporting a handgun. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $1,000 bond pending trial.

While patrolling the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane around 1 a.m. on April 13, an officer stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation and saw a .367 caliber handgun sticking out from under the driver's seat. A computer check showed that the gun had been reported stolen. Consequently, the driver, a 28-year-old nonresident man, was arrested and charged with theft, possession of a handgun, and transporting a handgun. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $2,500 bond pending trial.

Hotline on Drugs

The Greenbelt Police Department needs the help of residents. Any citizen with information about possible drug activity in the city is encouraged to call the Greenbelt Narcotics Hot Line at 507-6524. Callers may remain anonymous.

While patrolling the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane around 11:15 p.m. on April 15, an officer stopped a vehicle for a traffic violation and found a water pipe of the type commonly used to smoke marijuana in the vehicle. As a result, a 25-year-old nonresident woman was arrested and charged with possession of drug paraphernalia. She was released on citation pending trial.

A 21-year-old resident man was arrested and charged with assault and battery after punching and kicking a female during a domestic dispute in the 5900 block of Cherrywood Lane

Reward

The Greenbelt City Police Department is offering a reward of up to $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of person(s) responsible for any of the unsolved crimes as reported in the Police Blotter in the Greenbelt News Review. Contact Criminal Investigations at 507-6530. All information is confidential.

around 1:15 p.m. on April 12. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was released pending trial.

An attempted breaking and entering of an office suite in the 6300 block of Ivy Lane was reported on April 12.

A silver, two-door, 1986 DATSUN 300ZX, MD tags 221AEK, was reported stolen from the 6900 block of Hanover Pkwy. on April 11.

A 1992 Honda Accord was stolen from the 7700 block of Mandan Road on April 14; it was later recovered.

Vandalisms to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of autos were reported in the following areas: the area of Crescent Road and Hillside Road, the 6000 and 7600 block of Greenbelt Road, the 6400 block of Ivy Lane, the 7200 block of Morrison Drive, the 9100 block of Springhill Court, the 6000 block of Springhill Drive, the 9100 block of Springhill Lane, and the 6100 block of Springhill Terrace.

Rotating Workshop On Sexual Assault

Prince Georges Hospital Center's Sexual Assault Center is sponsoring rotating workshops on different self-defense strategies for women on Monday, April 26, from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Presentations at this workshop will rotate every 20 minutes, and is composed of the following: reducing risk of sexual assault; personal attacks; self-defense strategies and demonstrations; personal alarm systems; and home and car safety.

Statistics show that two out of three women will become victims of violent crime during their lifetime. For more information, contact the Sexual Assault Center at Prince Georges Hospital Center, 618-3154.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

50 YEARS AGO

Wartime Shortages and Rationing

by James Giese

Early 1943—In January, the city began to collect tin cans on a weekly basis. On the first day, 2,300 pounds were collected. Cans had to be washed, labels removed and the ends cut out, then flattened and placed out on the side of the main street by 8:30 in the morning. Collections were not made in the parking courts. The cans were immediately sold to the tin salvage station in Washington, where earnings were sufficient to pay the cost of transporting the cans to Washington.

The reliability of future collections was a potential problem, however, because the city faced a manpower shortage, with many city positions vacant as men went off to war. By the second week, collection had dropped to 1320 pounds and city officials noted that many people had failed to get their cans out on time. Rationing of canned goods would further reduce the amounts collected weekly.

Scrap Metal Fiasco

The Greenbelt Cooperator reported that nearly 20 tons of scrap metal previously collected in a September, 1942 scrap drive was still piled in a heap near the Greenbelt sewage disposal plant in January, 1943. (Note: At this time, Greenbelt had its own sewage treatment plant located where the Maryland State Highway District Engineer's Office now is located on Kenilworth Avenue.) Only three truck loads of the best scrap had been removed by a scrap dealer under the direction of the Prince Georges County Civilian Defense Council.

Greenbelt had still not been paid for the metal taken and at best could expect to be paid $15 dollars for its scrap. While the dealer was supposed to remove the rest within a week, the pile was still there two weeks later. However, in early February the scrap dealer finally hauled away all the scrap and the Greenbelt Civilian Defense Corps netted $72.

Butter Rationing

With butter in short supply and no nationwide plan for rationing, the Greenbelt Food Store implemented its own rationing system. Co-op members were issued cards upon which were listed the family size and record of butter purchases. Consumers initially could get one-quarter pound for each family member up to maximum allotment of one pound every seven days.

Gasoline Shortage

Greenbelt government employees would be eligible for gasoline rationing "B" books, the Prince Georges County Rationing Board announced. This action would force harassed Greenbelt commuters into car pools, the paper predicted.

Besides rationing, the Co-op Greenbelt Service Station (now the Mobil Station on Crescent at Centerway) was having problems getting gasoline delivery. In February, 1943 the situation got better with the delivery of 4,000 gallons and the promise of a greater quantity of gasoline to be allocated to the station than in the month before.

City officials were actively working to get better service from Capital Transit Co. through the Office of Defense Transportation. Buses ran between Greenbelt and Mount Rainier, where riders had to transfer to a street car line to get to downtown. There, still another transfer would probably be necessary. The bus also connected with the street car line on Rhode Island Avenue in Berwyn, which also ran to Mount Rainier.

In a letter to the editor, H. Nelson complained that the bus was so crowded he couldn't get on it. For that matter, taking the street car to Berwyn wasn't much better because the bus was still crowded when it crossed the tracks.

The Office of Defense Transportation ruled that a person had adequate public transportation if there was bus or street car service within two miles. In peace time the standard was one-half mile.

Cold Homes

Town Manager Roy Braden urged residents to conserve heat by tightly closing windows and drawing curtains and shades. There had already been a 10 percent cut in fuel oil supplies plus delivery problems; another 10 percent cutback was expected soon. If residents didn't conserve, he warned, the furnaces would have to be turned off during some of the daytime hours.

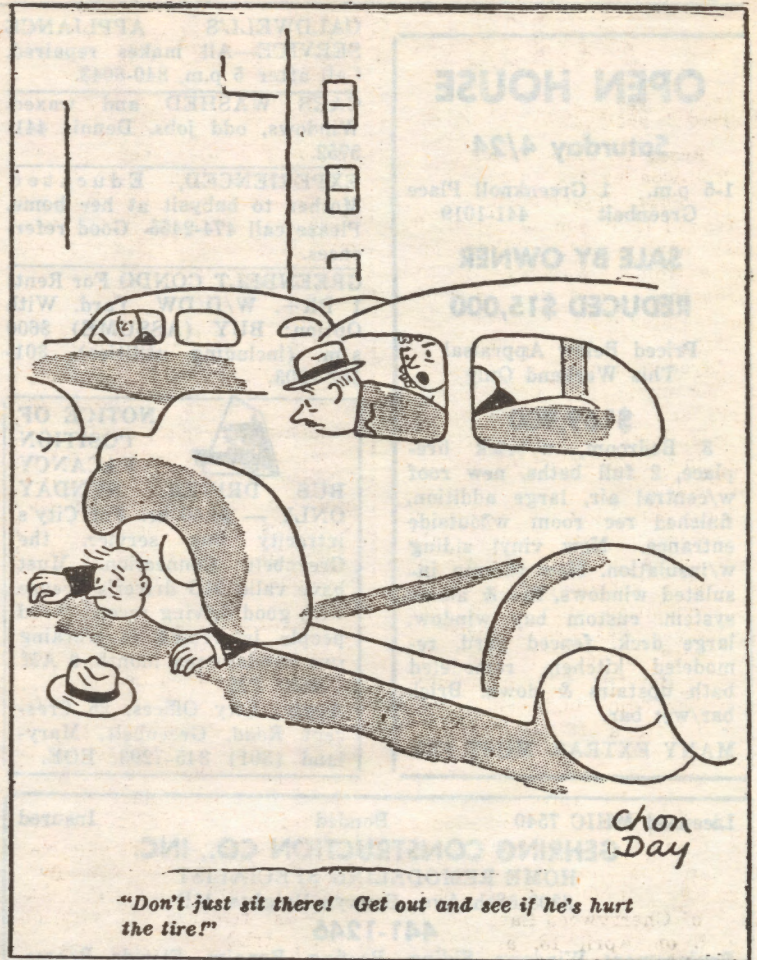

Heat also was being turned off at night. For homes and apartments, furnaces were turned off at 8 p.m. and restarted at 4 a.m. The school and business buildings also were without heat during the night. By the end of January, Greenbelt had already used half of its February allotment. If things did not get better, there would not be hot water available during the summer months, Braden advised.

The Cooperator reported that there was no loss of oil when a fuel truck ran off Edmonston Road at the curve near Good Luck Road and overturned. Although the truck was badly damaged, contents were saved, Chief of Police George Panagoulis reported.

The Greenbelt Variety Store advertised that there was more than one way to keep warm. It offered good values for sale in inexpensive blankets. For $5.29 you could get a 25 percent wool, 50 percent rayon and 25 percent cotton blanket in solid colors.

Used Tires for Sale

Consumers with the right rationing certificates could now purchase used tires through tire dealers. These extra tires had been turned in when people registered for gasoline. About half of the 10 million received were unusable except as scrap. The remainder, some of which had to be first repaired, were being routed back to the tire dealers for sale to persons holding certificates.

V-121-8/24

Drawn for Office of War Information

Food Rationing

Greenbelters received their second food rationing book at the Greenbelt Elementary School on February 24, 25 and 26, 1943, with A's to I's appearing on Wednesday, J's to R's on Thursday and S's to Z's on Friday. The kids got out of school, as the teachers had to issue the books. Supplies of coffee as of November, 1942 and canned goods subject to rationing as of February 21, had to be reported. If you had more than one pound of coffee for each person over 14, or more than five cans per person in the household, you were required to declare it. Also it was necessary to turn in Ration Book One.

The rationing system was a point system with ration books providing point coupons and rationed goods receiving announced point values. Co-op's response to rationing was to increase supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables, as the ration of canned, bottled and dried fruits and vegetables under the new point system was much more drastic than anticipated.

Even Dixie Cups

The Greenbelt High School Student Council had to take drastic action and institute rationing when the school's allotment of "dixie cups" was reduced to 28 dozen a week or about one per person. Ration cards for one cup a week were issued. Since not everyone needed a "dixie cup," the cards were transferable.

No Take-Home Ice Cream

In January, ice cream allotment to the Greenbelt Drug Store was half of its October purchases, or 15 gallons a day, and delivery of that amount was not guaranteed. Accordingly, ice cream sales were limited to only "on premises consumption."

Attention GHI Members!

This is to announce that I am a candidate for re-election to the GHI Board of Directors.

These are troubled times for GHI. Our Maintenance Director will be leaving GHI in May, and it appears certain that our General Manager will soon accept a two year assignment as a consultant to the Ukraine Republic to assist them in converting buildings and land from government to private ownership. It is imperative that we maintain stability, and I believe that with my years of experience on the Board and Audit Committee I can play a large part in doing so.

Of the other candidates I know of so far, I highly recommend that you also support and vote for Betty Deitch, Bill Phelan and Wayne Williams. There is a great wealth of GHI experience here, and with the four of us on your side, you will be assured of the stability and integrity you need and deserve.

Bob Wilhide345-8368*Tom Rygiel*JOE'S TIPS OF THE WEEK

Hello again !!!

It has been asked of us many times here at our repair facility, how come everybody is so concerned about regular oil changes? Well, it goes like this: This is one of the most economical types of engine preventive maintenance you can do to reach maximum engine life.

Motor oil does a couple of jobs, provided it stays in the engine does not leak all over the place. First, it lubricates the basic internal components of the engine, because these internal components rub on one another through bushings and bearings. The rubbing produces heat — a lot of it — through friction.

Motor oil does at least half of its job cooling internal engine components, and the other half lubricating. Engine coolant antifreeze helps keep the outer engine cool through circulation of the radiator and so forth. It is important to maintain your oil lubrication system with regular service.

With prolonged period of no service, oil leaks can occur and motor oil loses its ability to cool and lubricate. Then you have premature wear of engine components.

permanent financing can be arranged at the same time as bonds are sold for the community center, some time later this year. The ordinance will be considered for enactment at the next meeting.

Economic Stimulus Proposals

Passage by Congress of President Clinton's economic stimulus package would make available to Prince Georges County up to four million dollars in special Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds. City staff submitted a list of six projects which might be eligible for the special CDBG funds. In order of priority, as determined by staff, they are: (a) Greenbelt adult day care center for $250,875, (b) Greenbelt senior activity center for $287,950, (c) Springhill Lake street and sidewalk projects for $135,710, (d) reconstruction of Parkway for $120,000, (e) Springhill Lake Recreation Center improvements for $50,000 and f) Springhill Lake Recreation Center for $146,900. Mayor Weidenfeld introduced the proposal.

In reading the staff proposal, Weidenfeld noted that the U.S. Senate recessed for Easter without enacting the economic stimulus package and that it is possible that none of the funding will materialize. However, Hobbs contended that these projects should be approved by the council for submittal, in the event that the economic package was adopted. Council agreed and authorized their submittal.

Bicycle Task Force

The Advisory Planning Board (APB) has recommended to the council that a Bicycle Task force be established to promote bicycling as an environmentally sensitive mode of transportation and to plan for such bicycling issues as safety, education, laws and enforcement, commuting, trails and parking. Council member Antoinette Bram moved that additional advice be obtained from the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB). She recommended deferring any action on the proposal until the board's comments were obtained.

Weidenfeld questioned whether the task force, once established, would consist of a separate group or be subgroup of PRAB. Hobbs responded that there are many people in the community with expertise on bicycling who should be given the opportunity to participate in this decision. APB Chair J. Davis thanked the council for taking this matter under consideration. Bram's motion was adopted.

Patuxent River Park Hosts Discovery Day

On Saturday, May 1, Patuxent River Park, 16000 Croom Airport Road, Upper Marlboro, is hosting an open house and a number of special activities celebrating Patuxent River Discovery Day. Along the entire 100 mile length of the Patuxent River, government and private agencies will coordinate activities designed to acquaint the public with the historical, cultural and environmental aspects of the river.

This year marks the ninth anniversary of Patuxent River Discovery Day and the park is sponsoring river ecology boat tours, living history demonstrations, natural areas tours, water quality experiments and canoeing on Jug Bay. The Chesapeake Bay Critical Area Driving Tour and Duvall Tool Museum will also be open.

New this year is the Patuxent Martial Music, a 1812 volunteer field band from Ft. McHenry. They will be performing at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Many of these programs require reservations. A brochure listing all of the Patuxent River Discovery Day events along the river is available by calling (301) 627-6074.

METRO-BUS

to Metrorail, Gasper said that service to the New Carrollton station is still needed. People who work along the orange line in downtown Washington would have to change trains twice, since the Green Line will dead end at the Fort Totten station. Each transfer, Gasper noted, increases the length of the trip.

Getting to the Station

Under the proposed plan, there will be just two bus routes connecting different parts of the city with the Metrorail station. The T-15 will take residents from eastern and central Greenbelt to the station. Springhill Lake and Greenbelt East residents can take the R-12. The T-15 and R-12 buses will each run every half hour during rush hour, and hourly during nonpeak hours.

Quinn told the News Review that the county proposal is based upon their current ridership counts, which do not justify increased service. Several speakers at the hearing disputed these counts as too low. Noreen Yoch charged that they were taken during Christmas week, when ridership was unusually low.

Several speakers called for frequent, direct shuttle service to the Greenbelt and New Carrollton Metro stations. Given the relatively short times required to travel the area by car, the speakers were generally unwilling to take long bus rides to get to the station. None of the proposed routes go directly from Greenbelt East or the core of town to the Metro station via Kenilworth Avenue and Cherryhill Lane. Instead, they travel down Greenbelt Road to Springhill Lake or Beltway Plaza and then the station.

As part of the aid to municipalities program, the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission is conducting a study of possible shuttle service. However, this study is related to service by local government, not by Metro.

Increased Service

If the route changes are approved, Greenbelters will have access via connections at the rail station to bus routes serving more areas of the county, such as Laurel. Several speakers appreciated this option.

Next Steps

According to Greenbelt's Director of Planning and Community Development Celia Wilson, the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) will hold two public hearings on the plan in mid- to late May. By early fall, the WMATA board will receive its staff's final recommendations, which it may modify before approving. The new routes will go into service by December 11 when the northern section of the Green Line opens.

Wilson said that WMATA will review the routes in mid-1994 to see if additional changes are needed.

At the end of the hearing, Mayor Gil Weidenfeld urged those present to attend the WMATA hearings to make their concerns heard. The city will suggest Eleanor Roosevelt High School as the site of one of the hearings. The other will be held at a location inside the Beltway.
